

The AFMS Bulletin Editors' Hall of Fame

Honoring the hard working, dedicated editors and publishers of our clubs and federations

Established in Boise, Idaho

1995

forward

The Bulletin Editors' Hall of Fame was established in 1995 as a way to recognize and honor the hard working editors of local gem and mineral clubs throughout the United States, Canada and other areas of the globe where there are organized clubs.

The brainchild of Shirley Leeson, the initial group of inductees included many "old time" editors whose exceptional work over a number of years had fostered interest in the hobby, in the local clubs, and at the regional and national federation level. A committee, consisting of one inductee from each regional federation and Canada was formed and it is this committee that recommends future inductees.

Announcement of new honorees is made each year during the AFMS Annual Convention with certificates presented at the Editors' Breakfast. Initially editors from each Federation were inducted into the "Hall" each year, but because so many could not be at the AFMS Convention this policy was changed in 2004 so that, unless unusual circumstances prevailed, only editors from the federation hosting the AFMS Convention would be those inducted. The idea, and it's thus far worked well, is for the new Hall of Fame editors to be recognized before a group of their friends and peers within their own regional federation.

In 2006 Editors from the Southeast Federation were recognized; in 2007 Editors from the Rocky Mountain Federation were inducted at Roswell, NM and in 2008, those from the South Central Federation will be recognized at the Convention in Humble, TX in September.

To suggest an editor for inclusion in the Hall of Fame, contact the Committee Chair in your area (contact information can be obtained by writing the Bulletin Editors' Hall of Fame Chair at the address shown on the AFMS website <www.amfed.org>).
